

Chelsea Walton

Noncommutative
Algebra and Representation Theory

Chelsea Walton was educated in Detroit public schools, and loved counting, patterns, and puzzles from a young age. She was named a Sloan fellow in 2017, and was the first woman awarded the André Lichnerowicz Prize in Poisson geometry in 2018. She currently conducts research and teaches at Rice University.